

Introduction for Chuck Gallagher

In today's world, we make split-second decisions all the time. Every decision we make, every choice, no matter how small, has consequences. Are we prepared to accept the outcomes of every decision we choose?

Our next speaker is currently a sales executive with a publicly-held company. He has led a $25 million sales region with 100 sales representatives and started his own training business with projects in 30 states. He has many accomplishments outside work: he is a private pilot, writes music, and served as music director of his church. Pretty good for a person who was raised in the "projects" by a single parent.

In 1990, he was at the pinnacle of his professional success. But everything changed, literally overnight. Our next speaker knows first hand about choices and consequences and will be speaking about "Success Beyond Illusion." Please welcome Chuck Gallagher.
